Couple claim M&S made terrible boob

BY JESSICA DUNCAN

jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

A SHOPPER claims she was 'humiliated' after a Marks and Spencer security guard barged into her changing room while she was still topless.

The retail giant has told MK NEWS it is investigating the claims by Elizabeth Russell and her fiancé Wayne Denwood, who were shopping with their eight-year-old daughter Freya in the Kingston store on Thursday evening.

The 33-year-old, from Woburn Sands, suffers with anxiety problems and goes shopping in the evenings to avoid crowds.

She wanted Mr Denwood, 51, to go into the changing rooms with her to help undo the basque she was wearing so she could try on some bras. Her condition means she does not like strangers touching her.

After being told they could not go into the female changing rooms together by a member of staff they were directed to the men's changing rooms, but after a few minutes they claim a male security guard barged in on them and told them to get out, despite Ms Russell being topless.

Mr Denwood said: "She felt humiliated and it was all in front of our eight-year-old daughter. We were still shaking in anger at home hours later, we are absolutely disgusted with his behaviour. She only just managed to get her jacket over her partially fastened basque.

"We went to the store to collect some boxers, but my fiancée wanted to try on some bras. We were going to go into the changing rooms together as she suffers with anxiety. As I was going in with her a member of staff said I couldn't go into the women's changing room.

"We were directed to the men's changing room and I checked no-one else was in there, but while she was trying on a second bra we heard banging on the door. We heard someone say it was not allowed, so she started to put her clothes back on. The door opened and there was this large fella who was swearing at us to get out.

"My fiancée was there with her breasts hanging out and soon he was threatening to 'kick my head in' and he was saying 'swing at me then'.

"He would not allow us to shut the door for Elizabeth to put her clothes back on."

Mr Denwood, who used to be in the Royal Air Force, added: "I worked for Next as a security guard, so I know about the job.

"He got right in my face and was pinning us in there and wouldn't move for us to do anything with the door.

"We asked for the name of the manager so we could make a formal complaint but they wouldn't tell us who it was."

A spokesman from Marks and Spencer said: "If a customer makes a condition known to us we will always try to accommodate their needs. We have been made aware of the complaint and are now investigating the circumstances."

Taking short cut to barber title

PROFESSIONAL barbers from around Milton Keynes will go head to head at the 2015 Milton Keynes Barber of the Year contest next month.

The competition will see the barbers take part in heats hosted by Milton Keynes College's in-house salon, The Graduate, on Monday, May 18 from 5pm.

The competition is expected to be fiercely competitive with the winners from the heats set to compete in the 'barber-off' that will be held in Middleton Hall at the centre:mk on Friday, June 12.

There are three categories – classic, modern twist and patterns – and two finalists from each group will compete against each other in the final.

Charlotte Salmon, faculty support manager at the college, said: "This is a superb opportunity for MK College to be involved with such an exciting event and for our students to be able to take part."

Regeneration is in the air as two projects look to remodel and rebuild sites

A look to the future: An artist's impression of how the development of the Agora could reflect the architectural past of Wolverton

What do you think to the plans? mkweb.co.uk and editor@mk-news.co.uk

Agora plans include Radcliffe Street link

THE possible shape of things to come for Wolverton's little-loved Agora centre has been revealed to residents.

On Friday CMI Architecture began a public consultation, giving people a chance to provide their feedback on proposals for the site.

A major planning application will be submitted to Milton Keynes Council at the end of the month, detailing a proposed mixed-use redevelopment of the site, associated partial redevelopment of Church Street and the proposed reintroduction of the Radcliffe Street link from Church Street to the town square.

The development site will see a mix of apartments with retail outlets on the ground floor and the development of a car park.

Commenting on the plans, Frank Phillips, 72, who has lived in Wolverton all his life, said: "I think this plan will be good for Wolverton.

"It's nice that they plan to base the site on Wolverton's original architecture.

"Anything will be better than what it is now.

"And I'm happy that there are plans to reintroduce the Radcliffe Street link from Church Street to the town square."

Dave Hammond, who has lived in Wolverton for two years, said: "I am a bit concerned that there won't be enough parking spaces.

"The plan states that there will be one parking space per flat and that is just unrealistic. There's not enough parking spaces now."

Modernise move for Lloyds Court

BY SARAH LEE
editor@mk-news.co.uk

PLANS have been put forward to give one of Milton Keynes' earliest buildings a new lease of life.

Palatium Investment Management bought Lloyds Court, at the junction of Secklow Gate and Silbury Boulevard, in 2013 and now plans to spend a 'significant' amount of money on providing better shopping facilities for city centre residents and those living in nearby Conniburrow.

And members of the public will be able to have their say on the proposals when they are unveiled at an exhibition on Friday, April 24.

Palatium's plan is to keep the existing façade and colonnades and rebuild and extend the interior of Lloyds Court to provide a range of new retail units.

The unit currently occupied by Lloyds Bank will be retained, as will the Elisabeth Frink Black Horse sculpture.

The regenerated building will provide double-height retail units fronting on to Secklow Gate, with two-storey retail/banking/restaurant units facing Silbury Boulevard.

The larger retail units facing onto Secklow Gate will provide new units for retailers who want to move to central Milton Keynes.

The exterior will be completely refurbished and the service entrances to Secklow Gate will be infilled to provide a continuous level footpath and frontage for new retailers.

The development will be accessed from a fully enclosed service bay with a one-way entrance and exit on North Tenth Street.

Neil Lawson-May, joint chief executive of Palatium, said: "The regeneration of Lloyds Court will not only give a new lease of life to one of Milton Keynes' earliest buildings but it will bring greater shopping choice to the city centre, complementary to existing city centre retailers, as well as providing improved local shopping facilities.

"We are looking forward to meeting residents and city centre shoppers at a public exhibition on April 24 to explain the Lloyds Court proposals and to hear their comments."

The public exhibition will be held in Suite 37, on the first floor of Lloyds Court, from 11am-7pm.

A 15-YEAR-OLD boy who tried to recover his mum's cat from a tree, ended up having to be saved by firefighters himself.

Hayden Hewitt, from Neath Hill, knew his mum would go mad when she got home and found her pride and joy Lily, a 10-year-old Persian cross, up a tree.

Lily scampered up the tree on Monday evening while being chased by a dog. She was so frightened she ended up 30 feet off the ground.

In a rescue bid Hayden climbed a neighbouring tree to try and bring her down, but got so high he started to panic.

The Stantonbury Campus student said: "Every time I got close to Lily she climbed higher and higher and meowed louder.

"The branches beneath me kept snapping, so I went higher up until I couldn't go higher and felt like I was going to fall.

"Lily was too far away from me and I was really nervous I was going to fall."

Hayden's mum Lyn Woods, who returned home from work to all the commotion, said; "I came home to find both my son and cat up a tree.

"Hayden said he could see our local shops – so he must have been at least 50 feet high.

"He was really brave to try and save Lily, but he then panicked."

Firefighters had to use a 10.5 meter ladder to get both Hayden and Lily down safely.

While Hayden was stuck up the tree he asked his mum if he could get his tongue pierced as a reward for trying to save Lily and after a reserved response of 'maybe', Hayden got his wish yesterday.

Tree-mendous: Hayden Hewitt about to be retrieved from his stranded position after trying to save family pet Lily

Men battled to save fire victim

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

TWO men risked their lives to try and save a 67-year-old, who died in a house fire in Bletchley.

It is believed the fire started at Julie Parrott's bungalow in Napier Street when the multiple sclerosis sufferer fell asleep after lighting a cigarette.

John Wisson, 76, from Napier Street, and a man in his 20s visiting the area, rushed into the property when they heard the lady's carer shouting for help.

Mr Wisson said: "I came running down and went over to the property. The toxic fumes hit me. We found the lady lying on the floor and she was badly burned. The other guy said she was dead so we got out as the emergency services arrived. I think she fell asleep with a cigarette."

Fire crews from Bletchley, Great Holm and Broughton attended the scene at about 4.30pm on Thursday, along with police officers and paramedics.

Ms Parrott's daughter, Nicky Peacock-Britten, said: "I am grateful for the way the firemen dealt with my family and the sincere looks of sympathy they gave me when I arrived and they confirmed my mum's death."

Group commander Steve Wells, from Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue Service, said: "Smoke could be seen issuing from inside the bungalow. The body of a female was located within the living room. Our thoughts are with her family and friends."

An inquest into Ms Parrott's death opens tomorrow.

Former football coach guilty of sex acts

A FORMER football coach and scout who recommended the late Gary Speed to Leeds United has admitted sexual offences against a boy in the 1980s.

Barry Bennell, who now lives in Ravigill Place, Hodge Lea, is due to be sentenced at Chester Crown Court on May 8 after admitting two counts of indecent assault on a male and two counts of enticing a boy under the age of 14 to commit an act of gross indecency.

Bennell, 61, who pleaded under his other name of Richard Jones, appeared at the same court on Tuesday April 7 to plead guilty to the charges.

He was a local football coach in the 1980s and was employed as a scout by established football league club Crewe Alexandra.

He also had close links as a coach with current Premier League champions Manchester City and recommended players to Leeds United and Stoke City.

MK NEWS contacted Bennell at his home, but he slammed the door shut.

White paint solution

AT A recent meeting of Milton Keynes University of the Third Age, council leader Pete Marland said that a useful way of judging public reaction, in the absence of the ballot box, is to threaten to take a service away.

He gave the possible closure of the library at Stony Stratford as an example and it sounded effective. May I suggest that a similar approach to matters of public interest might be adopted but in reverse.

As the black sack issue and the appointment of a director of place were announced at about the same time, would it not have been a good idea to define the nature of the new post, and any connection, and inform as many people as possible of the facts before the event? And why director of place? Project manager might have been less provocative.

An article from the council in MK NEWS would surely help to avoid some of the mixed reactions expressed in the paper's letters column.

We are about to enter into a hot debate on city road speed limits, cameras, traffic lights, removal of roundabouts and so on. We seem about to join every other town in the county where the traffic flow is the opposite to what the residents would wish for.

Before we start to argue the merits or otherwise of the various solutions, could we hear where and what the problem is? Perhaps the proposals are not intended to become policy anyway.

Tragic accidents have occurred and must be prevented, but are the measures so far rumoured the results of careful research and what were the results?

As an example, why are the road markings across the city different at the point of entry to roundabouts. Sometimes two lanes, sometimes three, why the difference? I wonder if consistency across the city would avoid last minute lane changes, which do present a hazard. Why not always mark three lanes, turn left, ahead and ahead or turn right, using arrows, as is done so well in many places?

Why, in a progressive city, would we abandon a roundabout system copied the world over?

If we could solve a problem with some white paint instead of spending millions on destroying roundabouts which work well, having replaced the 'junctions with traffic lights' solution of many years ago, then why not try it? Of course if records do not show any accidents at roundabouts we do not need to change them anyway.

So please talk to us more Cllr Marland, but not on the official website which is difficult to manage. Give us the main points in the paper, ask our opinion, we won't let you down.

Houses for everyone

PAUL Griffiths (Letters, MK NEWS, March 25) has raised a point that can't be ignored – one that covers a wider area that many will be unaware of.

Yes, house prices are soaring in MK. When I moved to the area at the end of 1988 it was still possible to get a reasonably sized house for well under £100,000 by hunting around. Today it is not unusual to see three or four times that amount being the norm, though there are exceptions.

Allied to this is the tendency of planners to ignore local preferences. The denial of planning permission for Aldi to build on a site of its preference, in the interest of sticking all such development in the Agora or close by, is one such.

One idea might be to expand development in the neighbouring villages. However, it would have to be proportionate, as well as being aimed at some for local people and some for incomers for variety's sake.

It won't be an easy business and will involve some give and take on both sides. But it has to be done and done not just intelligently but with sensitivity as well.

Toddler cafe needed

WITH reference to a recent article in MK NEWS (Mums trotting up plans for a cafe, April 1) this is great but a little late for me unfortunately.

Something like this has been needed for a long time. This is a really simple but obvious idea to for all those mums out there with under fives.

My friend and I have struggled for ideas of where we can amuse our children on rainy days. There's just nothing unless you go into the all day indoor play centres that charge a lot of money and offer mums no rest, as they have to climb the big climbing frames to keep an eye on their children.

Where is their chance to grab a well deserved cuppa? Also, in so many places you have to go up and order your food and drink at the till nowadays; for mums with under five-year-olds with pushchairs, bags etc, this is impossible when you are trying to watch your little one too.

Best of luck to the girls but our boys start school in September. If only it had happened sooner.

Make roads safer

AS A nation we do not seem to attach the same importance to road traffic accidents as to other killing and injuring.

We put up with incompetent driving, lack of consideration, abuse and bad behaviour as just 'one of those things.' About 40 people are killed in the UK every week and for each of these about 10 people are seriously injured.

The only roads near MK designed for 70mph are the M1 and the new A5. Please do everything you can to shame the current highways authority to deal with the situation without delay.

Rubbish eyesore: Monica and Bob Brown make their way along a litter-strewn redway

Couple's route a load of rubbish

IN SUPPORT of MK NEWS' Walk Safe campaign a couple from Beanhill have pointed out what they think is the dirtiest redway in Milton Keynes.

Monica and Bob Brown use the redways and underpasses daily to get around and say the underpass between Beanhill and Denbigh under the A5 is the worst one in the city as it is always full of rubbish.

Mrs Brown, 74, said: "There are no bins for people to use and there are a few men who regularly sit and drink there. Despite them being polite, it is intimidating walking past and they leave all their cans and bottles scattered around.

"At least if there were bins along the redway people could make the choice."

MK NEWS is working with Milton Keynes Council to improve our redways and underpasses and encourage more people to use them.

Mrs Brown added: "The rubbish does deter people from using the redways and if it wasn't for Bob being on a mobility scooter we would choose another route. It has been like this for so long I don't know if we can change people's views but I really hope the council and MK NEWS can make them better."

Drunk picks up the final ASBO

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

A MAN has been given the last Anti-Social Behaviour Order (ASBO) in Milton Keynes.

Anthony Porter, 32, of no fixed abode, was given the ASBO at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on March 25.

The ASBO was granted following Porter's conviction for being drunk and disorderly in the city centre.

Due to a change in legislation this will be the last ASBO handed out in Milton Keynes. ASBOs will be replaced by Criminal Behaviour Orders.

Anthony Porter

Porter's ASBO bans him from entering Station Square and Central Milton Keynes' shopping area, including Lloyds Court and Xscape.

The order will be in place until March 17, 2017.

Milton Keynes Anti-Social Behaviour Officer, PC David Goodwin, said: "Members of the public have been subjected to Porter's anti-social behaviour over a number of years. It is not pleasant to see an individual drunk and disorderly and being abusive.

"In court, Porter agreed to the ASBO conditions and it is hoped that the limitations of his movements within the city centre will have a positive impact on both members of the public and himself."

Members of the public are urged to call police on 101 if they see Porter breaching his ASBO.

Turing notebook makes $1m

A HANDWRITTEN document by Enigma codebreaking genius Alan Turing has been bought for $1,025,000 (£700,850) at an auction in New York.

The notebook contains Turing's groundbreaking scribblings that built the foundations of computer science and was written at Britain's codebreaking centre, Bletchley Park, in 1942.

Turing, the inspiration for hit film The Imitation Game, is heralded for unravelling the mystery of the Nazi's secret messaging machine, an act believed to have shortened the Second World War by four years.

The 56-page manuscript had never been seen before by the public.

When Turing committed suicide in 1954 his papers were given to close friend and fellow mathematician Robin Gandy.

He handed the papers to the University of Cambridge, where Turing studied, but kept the document for himself and added his own jottings.

Spitfire party's happy landings

BY SARAH LEE
editor@mk-news.co.uk

NOSTALGIA fans will have the chance to party like it's 1942 once more, as an air raid shelter for a Second World War themed Spitfire party is being set up in a secret location.

Hidden behind blackout curtains in Bletchley, guests will be partying in a bunker that is lit only by searchlights and snacking on ration foods to help keep hunger at bay while jiving night away.

Behind the proceedings is 'Lady Dangerous', of a group aptly called Gin Fizz, who said: "I was searching for a good night out where I could indulge my creative and wild side. However, there was nothing happening outside of London.

"I take personal pride in ensuring that Gin Fizz produce the highest quality parties in MK. All music, live acts and performers are carefully researched and sourced, often taking the best entertainment from London and bringing it right to your doorstep.

"Soldiers on leave, munitions girls, land girls, airmen and spivs, are all welcome to join us for a real killer diller of a night."

The Last Chance Ragtime Band and vintage pin-up girl Lili La Scala will be providing swing music that will make all those involved forget their ration books and throw caution to the wind for one night only.

There will be a pop-up beauty parlour for the evening, where those who want to recreate the style of the era can have their hair done by Sarah's Doo-Wop Dos. Clients can book a slot by emailing sarahsdoowopdos@gmail.com.

Vintage hair stylist Sarah Dunn, from Sarah Doo-Wop Dos, said: "The Spitfire Party is such a great 1940s night. I love creating iconic victory roll hairstyles for the guests and everyone makes such an effort with their outfits. It's a really fun night."

The Spitfire Party will be held at the secret location on Saturday, May 9 from 7.30pm to midnight. The details of the venue will only be disclosed at the time of buying tickets.

Individual tickets cost £15-£18 with group tickets ranging between £100 and £150 at www.ticketsource.co.uk

Sorry burglar curries favour

TROPHIES that were stolen from Calcutta Brasserie in January have been returned to the restaurant with a note saying 'my mum found them and made me return them'.

Staff at the Stony Stratford restaurant were rejoicing when the trophies, including ones for the 2014 Best Asian Restaurant from the MK Food & Leisure Awards and the 2014 British Curry Finalist Award, plus two others, were returned.

On Friday morning a staff member discovered the hoard in the doorway with a note that read: "Sorry for taking your trophies, my mum found them and made me return them. Sorry for any trouble caused. M."

Ali Ajmol, manager at Calcutta Brasserie said: "We are naturally happy to have the trophies back as they mean a lot to us and we have worked hard to achieve them. We're not angry with the person that took them and just grateful for their safe return, plus it sounds like his or her mother will be handing out her own punishment."

Dad's emotional journey for son

Tribute trek: Steve Ashton walked 130 miles after his son Oliver passed away

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

A FATHER relived every emotional step of his son's short life to raise money for a retrieval ambulance.

Steve and Trisha Ashton from Hanslope started their journey with baby Oliver after they were transferred from Northampton to Kingsmill Hospital in Mansfield when he was born five weeks premature.

Sadly at seven weeks old Oliver died of sepsis – a whole-body inflammation caused by an infection.

Steve wanted to remember his son by walking 130 miles passing all the hospitals Oliver was treated at, including Milton Keynes University Hospital and the John Radcliffe Hospital in Oxford, where he spent his last days.

The 48-year-old said: "Walking from Kingsmill to John Radcliffe was very emotional following all of Oliver's steps, especially as I hadn't been back to Kingsmill since we took Oliver home.

"Oliver was fighting fit until he caught sepsis at seven weeks old. He was treated at Milton Keynes University Hospital until he was stable and transferred to the John Radcliffe, but then a few days later he died."

Steve has raised £5,387 so far, after completing his five-day walk last week. The money was raised for Friends of PICU, a charity supporting critically ill children across the South of England, and is going towards a retrieval ambulance.

The vehicle costs around £117,000 and is specially created with an incubator and machinery that could be life-saving for a baby. There are only three in the South East that are used for all hospitals, including Milton Keynes.

ARE YOU GETTING LOUSY RETURNS ON CASH ISAs FROM YOUR BANK?

A new couple came to see me this week, Jim and Maureen, after they had attended a pre-retirement seminar at which I gave a presentation on retirement planning.

Maureen wants to retire from her job in the health service early in 4 years' time when she will be 55. Her husband is already retired. She is looking forward to receiving a good NHS pension but is aware that it will be reduced because she is going to take early retirement.

Jim and Maureen have been good with money. They have an old-fashioned simple approach to money. They spend less than they earn! This is the secret to wealth. Simple isn't it? Well, simple in theory but difficult to discipline yourself to do in practice.

As a result of their thrift their mortgage has been paid off and they have £150K in savings deposited with a number of banks and building societies. That's the good news. The bad news is they are getting lousy return son their cash of 1%-2% a year!

Tony Byrne

Wealth And Tax Management

I demonstrated to them their lifetime cashflow plan using our Money Forecast System. When they viewed it they realised they would be significantly better off if they could get their money working for them rather than the banks!

They consider themselves to be low risk investors but I advised them this attitude was costing them dearly. They are lending money to the banks at very low interest rates and the banks are using their money to invest in "real assets" such as shares and commercial property to make a "real return" in excess of interest rates and inflation. I advised them to stop depositing so much with the banks and to invest in these "real assets" themselves. By the way a real asset is simply an in investment that can keep pace with or beat inflation. You see if your money is earning interest at less than the rate of inflation like Jim and Maureen then your standard of living will continue to fall.

Fake window cleaner jailed for conning elderly

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

A 19-YEAR-OLD has been sentenced to a total of four years' imprisonment after being convicted of burglary, fraud and theft offences.

Ally Gillan, of no fixed abode, pleaded guilty at Aylesbury Crown Court on April 1 to three counts of fraud, one count of burglary and a count of theft. Most of Gillan's crimes, all of which were committed between February 27 and March 27, involved him claiming to be a window cleaner and accepting money from elderly residents.

During a distraction burglary in Tweed Drive, Bletchley, he entered the house claiming to be a window cleaner and stole a bag of coins from the 85-year-old male occupant.

Gillan was sentenced to 24 months' imprisonment, with six months to be served concurrently for breaching a restraining order imposed on him for previously claiming to be a window cleaner.

For a fraud at Kelsey Close, Tattenhoe, where he attended the home of an 89-year-old woman and her husband and claimed to have been the victim of crime, resulting in the couple giving him £100, Gillan was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment and six months' imprisonment to run concurrently for breaching the restraining order.

Put behind bars: Ally Gillan

For a fraud at Lenthall Close, Bradwell, where he attended the home of a 78-year-old woman claiming to be from her usual window cleaning firm and requesting payment of £20, which the victim gave him, Gillan was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and three months' imprisonment to be served concurrently for breach of the restraining order.

For a theft at Hills Close, Great Linford, where Gillan attended the address of a 78-year-old woman claiming to be from a window cleaning company, he was sentenced to three months' imprisonment and three months' imprisonment to be served concurrently for breach of the restraining order.

For a fraud at Shilling Close, Pennyland, where he attended the address of a 72-year-old woman claiming to be from her window cleaning company (having been paid £6 for the cleaning that he did not complete), Gillan was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and three months' imprisonment to be served concurrently for breach of a restraining order.

He was also sentenced to a further one month's imprisonment for a breach of a conditional discharge that was imposed in January. A further three offences were taken into consideration which took place in Quinton Drive, Bradwell, Mitcham Place, Bradwell Common, and Spoonley Wood, Bancroft Park, where a total of £60 was taken from the victims.

Bright sparks: Contestants in a heat of The Color Obstacle Rush which will be coming to Milton Keynes in the summer

IT'S fast, furious, wild and colourful and coming to Milton Keynes this summer in a technicolour explosion.

The Color Obstacle Rush, known in its native Finnish as Variestejuoksu, will be held at Willen Lake on June 13.

The 2014 tour became the most popular obstacle run series in Scandinavia and has now been licenced to be held in the UK. Each event has nine colour stations and 10 obstacles.

It combines the best of colour powdered running and a variety of fun obstacles along the way, including giant inflatable slides, bouncy castles, foam, gladiators, climbing nets and plenty of surprises along the 5K journey to the finish.

Steven Gordon-Wilson, CEO of Destination MK, said: "Wow, talk about an event born to be in MK! It's different, exciting and colourful. I missed out on a ticket to the London event so am chuffed it's coming here. It's an event that travels all over the world and we'll be welcoming guests from far and wide."

After a fun pre-workout contestants start the Rush by pushing through foam and getting doused with coloured powder while climbing up and down nets and waiting at the finishing line is a huge party to celebrate taking part. The event is separated into groups of 200 Rushers who will start at five minute intervals. You will have the option to pick which group you and your friends would like to start in when you register. Runners will encounter a surprise obstacle every 500 yards or so.

The Color Obstacle Rush is suitable for anyone aged 12 and above, regardless of fitness level. Until May 6 tickets cost £30, or from May 7 to June 11 they cost £34. Visit www.colorobstaclerush.com

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Billy Harley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Bedford, Milton Keynes & Leighton Buzzard areas and Billy is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Billy a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Young speak out

First time voters prepare for election

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

YOUNG people in the city have been giving Milton Keynes Council their views regarding the General Election.

For all seven invited to take part in the discussion, this will be the first General Election in which they have been eligible to vote – and six out of seven of them are planning to use that privilege.

However, although they believe it is important to make their voices heard, they also concede that politics and politicians aren't exactly known for being accessible or trustworthy.

Reuben Lyimo will be voting, but agrees that young people in general are not overly engaged with politics and the issues at hand.

He said: "They think all politicians are the same; they make hypocritical decisions or do not do what they promised."

So how could politicians appeal to young people and win their vote? Making the effort to visit them at their colleges and sixth forms seemed to be a popular method among the majority of those spoken to.

Rubiya Syeed said: "My school has invited a local member of the five major parties to come in and speak to Year 13 for an hour each week to talk about themselves, a few of their policies and to end with a Q&A session."

Charlie Davies would also like to see politicians focusing on the national curriculum.

He said: "Schools should teach students how to prepare for life as an adult.

"For example, they should teach students how to be good with money, how to grow food and repair clothes/furniture and how to write CVs."

Question time: Rubiya Syeed's school has a politician's Q&A Great year for five

Famous five: Some of the Bond extended family. Front row, Eileen Circuit, daughter, and son-in-law Michael Circuit. Back row: Grandaughter Nicola Scott, Bon with Isla, Stacey Scott and Ian Scott

BY JACK ASH
editor@mk-news.co.uk

IT HAS been a great year so far for Ron and Joyce Bond, who have welcomed their great, great, great, great grandchild into the world.

It is rare for a family to have five living generations and Ron, 96, and Joyce, 94, are very proud of the fact. They have lived in MK nearly all their lives and have seen the city grow alongside their ever-expanding family.

The first of the family's fifth generation, Isla Elizabeth Scott, was born in MK in February, weighing just over 6lbs.

Ron and Joyce's son Bill is the father of Nicola Scott, whose son Bon married Stacey, who has just given birth to Isla.

The couple currently live at Shenley Retirement Village, where they have been residents for almost two years.

Joyce loves having such a big family. She said: "It is lovely having those little feet running around. We can't all get together in here because it is too small. We both come from big families and it is lovely to have a large family.

"When we used to get together with the grandchildren we used play cards and board games, but the great grandchildren have all these computers and they don't want to play cards.

"I have a Kindle but that is where I draw the line."

The couple met each other in 1939 and married in 1941 when Joyce was 19 and Ron was 20, just before he went off to fight in India, Burma and Dunkirk.

One of 13 siblings, Ron retired from working at the age of 80. On his return from war due to a shrapnel injury to his arm, he worked in a brickyard and finished his career in 2000 after a fall while working in a petrol station.

Meanwhile Joyce, who was the eldest of six, took up a role at Bletchley train station during the war when the men went off to fight and later worked at Woolworths for 17 years.

MK'S GROWTH

"I have been in Milton Keynes 91 years. I've seen a lot of changes over the years. I don't like how Milton Keynes has grown. I don't go to Milton Keynes very often and MK has spoilt Bletchley because it stole all of the jobs and shops and all we ended up with was charity shops and estate agents." – Joyce

A HAPPY MARRIAGE

"The secret is to muck in and make sure you give and take on each side and let each other do their own things. Joyce has got hobbies with knitting and I just muck about and sit about watching TV, and that works really well for us." – Ron

WAR MEMORIES

"We didn't have a lot of air raids here, of course we had Bletchley Park. We didn't know what was going on there and we weren't allowed to go anywhere near it, only the people that worked there went because they had to be sworn in. I didn't know anything about it. Lady Leon who owned the park gave us the school and she gave us the recreation ground for the kids to play on." – Joyce

Unionised: The audience lapped up all Union J had to offer as they took to the stage on Saturday

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

THE chairman of ArenaMK hopes the venue will be home to many more music events after Non Stop Pop.

Thousands of screaming teenagers enjoyed non stop music from X Factor stars Union J and Stereo Kicks at the arena next to stadiummk on Saturday night. Local talent Bailey McConnell also performed.

Pete Winkelman said: "Non Stop Pop was a fantastic event and it was great to see so many people there and having a good time.

"What it shows is how good the arena is for events.

"The special acoustics worked really well and make us good neighbours for any future events, as Milton Keynes Council staff found out themselves with noise checks on Saturday.

"I am a Bailey fan and was so happy to see him back performing in Milton Keynes and doing such a big gig."

On film: Millie's parents at her bedside in the hospital scenes from Imagine

Film boosts charity

BY JESSICA DUNCAN

jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

PROMISING young film-maker Carl Mason is putting the finishing touches to a feature film inspired by MK NEWS and MKWeb's charity of the year, the Hope for Hollie Foundation.

After meeting Hollie Carter and her family, he decided to make Imagine, a film aimed at raising awareness of Niemann Pick Type C (NPC).

The film follows the story of Millie, a little girl who dreams of being a dancer, yet suffers from NPC, an extremely rare and incurable disease which causes neurological decline and dementia.

Following Millie through her upbringing, the plot presents the harsh reality of childish innocence as her parents struggle to fight through the pain.

Carl, from Shenley Brook End, met the Carter family a few years ago and immediately befriended Hollie, who inspired the charity after she was diagnosed with NPC aged two. The film has been shot and is currently going through the editing and production process.

In addition to Carl and assistant director Lewis Thompson being from Milton Keynes, the lead character Millie is being played by 11-year-old Maisy Nixon from Newport Pagnell.

Carl said: "Back in October, I began to collaborate with John F McDonald, a talented, multi-award winning screenwriter, whose work has appeared on Channel 4.

"John was taken aback by the harsh reality of Niemann Pick Type C and was therefore inspired to develop a screenplay in order to raise awareness of the condition."

The film will be premiered at The Hope For Hollie Best Of British Ball at DoubleTree by Hilton, stadiummk, on Saturday, June 13.

Carl also hopes to enter the film into a variety of national and international film festivals.

TV vet unveils nature centre

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

TV VET and wildlife presenter Steve Leonard opened Howe Park Wood Education and Visitor Centre on Sunday.

The centre, which will be a base for schools' educational activities and a venue for community events, is the first facility of its kind to be owned and operated by The Parks Trust.

It was commissioned to provide a focal point for delivering environmental education activities and to raise awareness of the natural history of Howe Park Wood and Milton Keynes.

The centre contains a classroom, meeting room, an outside decked area and new pond dipping platforms.

Steve said: "It is a brilliant building in a beautiful setting and it is a really important facility to guide people on what to look for around them.

"Compared to my generation, people now need safe places to engage with nature and learn about the outdoors."

Nature watch: Steve Leonard with Parks Trust volunteers at the opening of Howe Park Wood Education and Visitor Centre

Bird and bat boxes will be installed in the adjacent woodland and there will be new interpretation panels to help people learn about the nearby wildlife.

A feature wall at the front will include a number of habitat boxes to form insect homes. The building also incorporates low carbon technologies, including solar panels and an air source heat pump.

Local artist Annette Reed has created four stained glass windows depicting the changing seasons.

Focus on mystery

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

THE significance of Bletchley Park and the efforts its staff put in to end the Second World War have had intense media interest over the last few years.

Their heroic actions helped end perhaps the 20th century's most brutal conflict.

Incredibly, 60 years on the lessons that were learned during that time are still being used in modern intelligence operations.

Gordon Welchman was one of the most influential people at Bletchley Park and he is the latest person MK NEWS is focusing on in our series on the unsung heroes whose contribution at the home of the codebreakers may have slipped under the radar.

Mr Welchman was the head of Hut Six, which was tasked with breaking the codes that the German army used to deliver messages.

One of the things he introduced when he first started work at Bletchley Park was to look at all the data surrounding any messages, for instance the time they were sent.

This information, known as metadata, was not encrypted and what was so valuable about it was that the call sign that every radio operator had could be identified.

By analysing this data, the codebreakers were able to work out which call sign belonged to whom and where that person was, so Mr Welchman was able to track the movement of the German army. This provided a massive intelligence boost and it became known as traffic analysis.

"Metadata, GPS locations, telephone and information like that – Welchman and his colleagues started that type of thinking," said Dr Joel Greenberg, a Bletchley Park historian and author of Gordon Welchman: Bletchley Park's Architect of Ultra Intelligence.

"Traffic analysis was more important arguably than reading the encrypted messages. And even if you couldn't crack the message, you could still read the other stuff."

Hero: Gordon Welchman, pictured right, was in charge of Hut Six at codebreaking Bletchley Park during the Second World War

man from Hut Six

It is information such as this which is used by modern day intelligence services to track movements of certain interesting individuals – and it all stems from what Mr Welchman was able to do.

"It was the precursor to modern intelligence," adds Dr Greenberg.

"Because it is so sensitive all post-war reports about traffic are still classified today.

"What he did is very current and relevant still to this very day."

Mr Welchman was also able to enhance Alan Turing's bombe device, which helped identify the settings of the German's Enigma machines quickly and effectively industrialised the whole code-breaking process. He made quite an extraordinary contribution," said Dr Greenberg.

"I don't think it's fair to rank the top 10 people at Bletchley Park or anything like that, but my standard response is that there were a huge number of important people at Bletchley Park.

"Of all of them, Alan Turing and Welchman were fundamental to the success there and I've never met a historian who disagreed with that."

After the war Mr Welchman moved to America in 1948 and worked for the Mitre Corporation, which was another intelligence service.

He published his book The Hut Six Story in 1982, which the National Security Agency (NSA) disapproved of so he lost his security clearance. He died in 1985.

Great shakes: Jeremy Hunt meets staff on a tour of Milton Keynes University Hospital

Hunt backs call for hospital expansion

BY JESSICA DUNCAN

jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

CONSERVATIVE Jeremy Hunt said he remained optimistic about the expansion of Milton Keynes University Hospital while on a tour of the site.

Mr Hunt met staff and patients last Wednesday, when chief executive Joe Harrison took him and parliamentary candidates Mark Lancaster and Iain Stewart around the hospital, which has changed its name because of its new link with the University of Buckingham.

Mr Hunt said: "The key is to transform services outside of the hospital so people feel they don't have to go to A&E department, especially at the weekends.

"There is absolute potential for the hospital to expand and parliamentary candidates Mark and Iain continue to campaign for this."

In a poll on www.mkweb.co.uk asking residents what areas of the hospital they think should be expanded, 67 per cent said A&E, while 16 per cent wanted more open spaces for patients.

The hospital is expected to receive £178million over the next 20 years to help in areas like cancer treatment.

Andrew Pakes, Labour's parliamentary candidate for MK South, said: "Patients and NHS staff in MK deserve a better plan from the Government to actually get us the hospital, GPs and care services we need for a growing population."

Let us know what you think in our online poll: www.mkweb.co.uk

Follow folk's outstanding couple

HIGHLY praised husband and wife folk duo Kathryn Roberts and Sean Lakeman call in at Wavendon's The Stables this month promoting their new album, Tomorrow Will Follow Today.

After being voted Best Duo in the BBC Radio 2 Folk Awards in 2013, and also nominated for Best Original Song (The Balad of Andy Jacobs), in Tomorrow Will Follow Today they add two rarely covered traditional songs to eight confidently written compositions to create a superb new album.

Raising a family and musical globe trotting kept the pair absent from the music scene for almost a decade before their highly-acclaimed Hidden People CD was released in 2012. Sean was kept busy touring the world with brother Seth's band, while Kathryn remained in Devon bringing up the couple's twin daughters.

Kathryn's sublime vocals merge seemlesly with Sean's deft and inventive live guitar work on stage and his award-winning sonic skills in the studio.

The duo are supported by Hattie Briggs, a 21-year-old singer-songwriter, who was nominated for the 2014 BBC Radio 2 Young Folk Award.

She has since had three consecutive singles in the iTunes charts after quitting Oxford University in the second year of her Russian degree to start her music career in January 2014.

Now, just over a year later, she has just released her debut album, Red and Gold.

Kathryn, Sean and Hattie will be appearing at The Stables at 8pm on Tuesday, April 21.

Tickets cost £14.50 from www.stables.org or by calling the venue's box office on 01908 280800.

irishdancing

MK LIFE has spoken to Morgan Comer – a Lord of the Dance – hand picked by the legend Michael Flatley himself, to perform in front of audiences in the Dangerous Games tour that is stopping in Milton Keynes.

Lord Of The Dance: Dangerous Games is a spectacular new staging of the much-loved traditional masterpiece.

Alongside Morgan, the show stars James Keegan and Matthew Smith as the Lords of the Dance and is choreographed and directed by Michael Flatley.

Morgan started dancing at the age of five in Southampton. He moved to Belfast at the age of 13 and danced for the Doherty school.

He said: "Many people are surprised how athletic and energetic the whole show is, as well as our footwork.

"Audiences leave on a high inspired by the Irish music with a fiddle player and singer and the story line. My favourite dance in the show is the War Lords, now known as the Chieftains, because it is acapella and the atmosphere is just incredible."

The show runs at MK Theatre from Tuesday until Sunday, April 26. Evening performances start at 8pm.

Tickets cost £37.90 from www.atgtickets.com

moodymelodies

LYRICALLY evocative, sometimes moody and melancholic, Fabian Holland's music runs through the whole range of emotions.

There are songs of people and places, strangers and family, human frailties and foibles, as well as sensitive sonic snapshots producing perfect visual imagery that is unsettling and reassuring.

Twenty-eight-year-old Fabian grew up listening to blues artists like Sonny Boy Williamson and Muddy Waters and blues-imbued arrangements remain a trademark of his music.

He started playing guitar aged just seven and later attended Guildford's Academy of Contemporary Music. Studying done, he headed for Italy's Abruzzo mountains in a red VW bus, spending four years busking, composing and honing his craft.

Now Stony Stratford is his next stop.

The concert – at 8.15pm tomorrow – will take place in The Marquee Bar at the Songloft, which is based in The Cock Hotel.

Tickets for the gig – which also features award-winning Lucy Ward – cost £10 in advance from www.thesongloft.co.uk, or £12.50 on the door.

WOBURN Safari Park ranger Bob Streatfeild on its fast-growing Asian elephant calf Tarli and a special day linked to the Save the Rhino campaign

I CAN'T believe Asian elephant calf Tarli is now six months old.

Time really does fly when you're having fun.

The beautiful Tarli is not the only new addition to be welcomed to Woburn Safari Park in recent months. There are also three gorgeous Eland antelope calves to be spotted and the park has now become home to two more scimitar horned oryx calves called Olaf and Pauline.

Everyone at Woburn Safari Park was geared up for all the excitement planned over Easter, which included the second Elephant Appreciation Weekend and a special visit from my good friend Peppa Pig on Easter Monday.

Soon the keepers at Woburn Safari Park will be holding a special fundraising event in support of Save the Rhino International.

The number of rhinos has fallen from 500,000 at the beginning of the 20th century to 20,000 nowadays.

Come along to the park on May 2-4 and help raise awareness and funds for Save the Rhino, all helping to reduce poaching, reduce habitat loss, monitor numbers and educate people about this species.

You can find out all about what's happening at the park and buy tickets on the website – woburnsafari.co.uk/events.

POLITICAL incorrectness will be the order of the evening at The Comedy Cow in Milton Keynes.

If you are a sensitive soul then you'd best give this show a miss and go to something more staid instead.

Adam Kay of Amateur Transplants, who did the iconic London Underground song, headlines. He started performing in 1998 at medical school, quickly becoming well known among the medical community.

Abandoning medical in-jokes for songs with wider appeal, his cutting-edge, darkly humorous reimaginings of modern day pop and rock classics have gained him a cult following across the UK.

Opening the show will be award-winning comedian James Alderson. He's been described by many as an 'everyman comedian' and recently supported Jo Brand at the Stables. Hosting the evening is Comedy Cow favourite, Paul Revill.

The evening of comedy takes place at the Red Dot Bar at stadiummk from 8-11pm on Friday.

Tickets cost from £8 (plus booking fee) from www.thecomedycow.co.uk/tickets.

progrockers

IF YOU'RE a fan of prog rock then The Craufurd Arms in Wolverton has a treat lined up for you – Lifesigns.

The band features John Young (keys and vocals), Jon Poole (bass and vocals), Frosty Beedle (drums and perc) Niko Tsonev (guitars and vocals) and Steve Rispin (engineering and production).

The band worked for more than two years to complete their first self-titled album in January 2013, with notable guest stars such as progressive rock legend Steve Hackett (Genesis) and Jakko Jakszyk(King Crimson).

It is almost commercial in its aspirations, it changes time, it changes key – but you would hardly notice.

The songs are full of melodic innovation, but they are still tunes that will stay in your head long after you finish listening.

The band will be supported by special guests Solstice at the show, which takes place on Friday. Tickets cost £15 from www.thecraufurdarms.com and doors open at 7.30pm.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the Borough of Milton Keynes has on 14th April 2015 made an order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, the effect of which will be to temporarily prohibit vehicles from entering, waiting or proceeding along Church Street, Wolverton, Milton Keynes, from its junction with Creed Street to the access road adjacent to the Wesley Methodist Church.

MG ANNOUNCES THE NEW MG6

MG's award-winning MG6 has just got even better with the introduction of the new MG6, which offers 'more MG for your money.' With much higher levels of specification, the new MG6 offers customers up to £3,000 value-for-money improvement over the previous model. This makes the new car truly amazing value with prices now starting from as low as £13,995.00.

The 2015 version of the MG6 offers major advances in every area of the car which first launched four years ago. The new MG6 offers improved performance; a striking new design; higher levels of comfort; enhanced levels of standard specification; and key technical advances. Three new trim levels of the new MG6 are offered – all featuring key upgrades from the out-going model. The new model trim levels are the New MG6 S priced from £13,995.00, the new MG6 TS with a starting price of £16,195.00 and the new top-of-the-range MG6 TL priced from £17,995.00.

The new MG6 offers higher levels of performance, lower emissions, and improved mpg and results from the intensive development work carried out by engineers based at MG's Birmingham operation.

The 2015 DTi-TECH engine is the latest generation of MG's own developed diesel engine. This version still develops 150PS and a strong 350NM from only 1800rpm, but now produces only 119g/km of CO2 and gives 4.6L/100km (61.4mpg) in combined driving. Improvements have also been made in driveability making the new MG6 the best balance of driver satisfaction and efficiency yet produced by MG.

In short, the engine on the new MG6 has been significantly improved and the 10g reduction in emissions makes the car 'cleaner' but with no loss of performance. The new MG6 is, on average, 75kg lighter than the out-going car and is 0.5 secs quicker from 0 to 60mph. Now it takes 8.4 secs compared to 8.9 sec in the previous model.

From the front the new MG6 looks sharper. The new front graphic includes new lamps, grille, lower vent, and LED daytime running lights framed by a new, dramatic feature line. This gives the front of the vehicle far greater presence than the previous generation while still instantly recognisable as a modern MG.

On higher level trims, the MG grille is highlighted in chrome. At the rear, the update has been even more dramatic, with a lower black aerodynamically styled bumper and shaped tailpipe. These changes all contribute to make the 2015 MG6 unmistakable on the road. In profile, the 2015 MG6 retains the look of a distinctive, fastback vehicle with the addition of standard 16" alloys across the range. This not only enhances the style of the car, but aids in the efficiency and driver comfort of the new MG6.

Inside the new and improved model, it looks and feels refreshed. Almost every area of the interior has been enhanced to give even higher levels of comfort and convenience. The new instrument cluster is now clearer; redesigned with a modern tunnel-style analogue presentation.

An electronic handbrake (EPB) has given the designers more scope to refresh the layout between the driver and front passenger seats. The electronic parking brake is incredibly easy to use; it activates manually and automatically releases when you want to move off.
Making its debut in the new MG6 is MG touch – a system developed in collaboration with leading supplier of aftermarket systems NNG iGo. MG touch embodies a collection of technologies which together provide a highly functional and intelligent infotainment system.

The new iGo Navigation by NNG is an app based navigation system. This has been developed to take advantage of the new MG touch system and is a substantial upgrade over the previous generation. iGo includes European mapping, 3D landmarks, Reality junction view, Enhanced signpost information, Speed limit advice, Route selection – fast, short, easy, green and 6/7 digit UK postcode entry.

The new MG6 continues the exceptional handling dynamics of the original car, which was awarded the Auto Express Driver Power Best Handling Award. Customers looking for a car with the great cabin and cavernous boot space of a family-sized car, yet yearn for the driving dynamics of a small car, the new MG6 is the perfect package. Buyers will find a class-leading car offering exceptional value-for-money, without compromising on quality, technology or MG's legendary 'fun to drive' feeling.

Renault Twingo
PARTY OUT BACK!

The Renault Twingo switches from a front-engined front-wheel drive hatch to a rear-engined rear-wheel drive city car. Developed in conjunction with Daimler, Renault's baby looks set to give rivals such as the Peugeot 108 and Volkswagen up! something to worry about.

The big news with this Twingo is that compared to its predecessor, it's completely back to front. Where that car was a front-engined front-wheel drive platform, much like almost every other city car on sale, this time round there's been a radical change. The engine is now located at the back and drives the rear wheels. Yes, like a Smart car. A pair of three-cylinder engines have been developed specially for this role. The first is a based on the existing 898cc TCe 90 ENERGY unit and develops 90PS and 135Nm of torque, but is angled at 49 degrees to increase interior space. The second powerplant is a unit of the same capacity but with 70PS and a modest 90Nm. Both deploy power through a compact five-speed manual gearbox.

The advantages of a rear-mounted engine in a city car are easy to appreciate. Even with a smallish engine up front, turning circles are often compromised by the amount of under-bonnet real estate the front wheels have to move in. With no engine to worry about, you can offer a genuinely tiny 8.65m turning circle. With the wheels at each corner of the car, you're not going to get the sort of weighty, tail-endy feeling you'd get in a 'traditional' rear-engined model where the engine's slung a long way out beyond the rear axle. The Dynamique TCe 90 is fitted with Variable Gear Ratio power-assisted steering, making the vehicle more agile and reactive at lower speeds.

If you didn't know the engine was where you'd normally put your shopping, you'd probably never guess from the outside. The Twingo has a fairly conventional city car silhouette, with elements of Fiat 500 in its cheeky domed profile. The front end adopts the usual Renault family face with bulging headlamps and a detail strip that frames the huge centrally-mounted Renault diamond. Punched inboard of the headlight pods are LED daytime running lights. The design team, headed up by Laurens van den Acker, wanted to evoke the feel of the Renault 5 and the rake of the Twingo's rear screen and the prominent shoulders are said to be inspired by the rear-engined Renault 5 Turbo. That might be a bit of a stretch for most of us to spot.

The Renault Twingo is a car that doesn't feel particularly rear-engined to drive, which leaves you wondering what the point is. Then you begin to appreciate the benefits. The front wheels can pivot to 45 degrees, giving the car astonishing manoeuvrability. Rotating the engine and putting it under the boot floor, gives a seriously low centre of gravity, helping both handling and packaging.

Most citycars are at their best in entry-level trims, but the Twingo feels a more assured prospect with a bit more kit in it. In fact, the top of the range Dynamique 90 ENERGY would be our pick, and at under £12,000, it looks very good value against a Volkswagen up! Renault looks to have given this third-generation car the tools it needs to give the class leaders a real scare.

We take you to favourite places and hidden gems as seen on the ITV series Cornwall with Caroline Quentin and Doc Martin, which stars Martin Clunes, including the world famous port of Falmouth, the pretty resorts of St Ives and Penzance, and a 26 acre sub-tropical paradise. So join us for a relaxing break along Cornwall's beautiful Riviera coastline.

Zundert Flower Parade

Departing on 4 September 2015

Each September the little Dutch town of Zundert sets a new precedent for flower parades, when 20 spectacular floats make their way along the main street, wowing the crowds with their sheer size and detail. First place is one of the finest things a local resident can achieve and so volunteers from the surrounding hamlets go all-out with their colourful creations, working all summer to perfect them and applying swathes of dahlia flowers only a few days before the big event. From animals and architecture to zany characters and Zundert life – there are no limits to the imagination and with up to half a million dahlias per float, this is flower power at its best!

Prices Includes:

- Private coach travel from your local area
- Return Eurotunnel from Folkestone to Calais
- Three nights' stay with continental breakfast
- Tour of Antwerp followed by free time
- Seated ticket at the Zundert Parade
- Services of our Tour Manager

Cornish Cruise & Cream

Departing on 10 & 17 July 2015

Cornwall encompasses everything you need for the perfect holiday and we've cherry picked some of the best highlights for you to enjoy on this relaxing break. We start with a cruise on the River Fal, taking in the beautiful Roseland Peninsula as we follow a unique sea route that crosses one of the deepest natural harbours in the world. Marvel at the 30 acres of plants and flowers at Trelissick Gardens and cruise between the Devon and Cornish coast. To complete your holiday, indulge in a Cornish cream tea during a nostalgic ride on a heritage steam railway.

Discover some of England's legendary railway lines as featured on Michael Portillo's BBC2 programme Great British Railway Journeys. During our four day break you can relive the golden age of steam and travel the length of the longest heritage railway in the country, before catching the train from England's highest narrow gauge railway station, 1,000 feet up on the wilds of Exmoor.

The Eden Project & the Lost Gardens of Heligan

Take a magical trek through the world's largest indoor rainforest, before enjoying the scent and colour of the Californian grasslands and South Africa. The Eden Project is a breathtaking recreation of some of the most precious regions on Earth and since it opened back in 2003 it has become one of Cornwall's top attractions. The iconic hexagonal greenhouses are filled with tropical plants, a huge waterfall, a tree canopy walkway and so much more, which will thrill the senses as you explore. Eden is also an educational experience, enlightening visitors of all ages on everything from evolution and ecosystems to climate change and plant resources. So join us for the chance to see the world, as well as visit the Lost Gardens of Heligan, an enchanting estate which lay hidden for more than 70 years.

Sparks fly but Red Bull fails to ignite

Fired up: Ricciardo and Kvyat had another frustrating day in China

RED Bull had another frustrating weekend in China as Daniil Kvyat had to retire due to engine problems and Daniel Ricciardo finished ninth.

Following the race, Red Bull team principle Christian Horner lamented his side's engine problems describing it as a 'shy position to be in'.

Renault, who built the side's engine, are now under increased pressure to fix the problems that have blighted Red Bull's season.

Red Bull's billionaire owner Dietrich Mateschitz has threatened to pull out of the sport if the French engine manufacturer doesn't raise its game.

Renault owner Cyril Abiteboul said that there would be 'no surrender' in trying to find the answer to fixing the faltering engine.

Renault created the engines that saw Red Bull claim four consecutive driver and constructor championships between 2010 and 2013, but they have failed to perform this season. A new engine for the Red Bull cars is currently being created in Renault's factories in Viry-Chatillon near Paris, but it is unclear when the engines will be ready.

Talking to the BBC, Horner believes that Renault have the ability to find the answer and create a new and improved engine.

He said: "They have a great heritage and they are better than what we are seeing. It's a question of how you respond to the situation you're in."

Elsewhere in the Grand Prix it was another Mercedes one, two with Lewis Hamilton taking a very controlled victory with Nico Rosberg second and Ferrari's Sebastian Vettel finishing third.

Hamilton's win highlights his dominance in the sport with eight victories in his last 10 races and two first places in the last three meetings.

MK DONS

Potter had a 'lucky escape'

MK DONS goalkeeper David Martin believes Darren Potter was lucky not to be sent off in the 0-0 draw at Port Vale on Saturday.

Potter lost the ball when Martin played a pass to him in the first-half on the edge of his own box – a tactic of playing football from the back which Dons often do.

The referee adjudged that while he tried to recover the ball, Potter brought down a Valiants player who took the ball off him and from that he could have scored a goal.

Potter was given only a yellow card for the incident, despite being the last man, and the former Liverpool shot-stopper believes that the vice-captain, who was skipper on Saturday in Dean Lewington's absence, was a touch fortunate to remain on the field.

"I would say he was very lucky and on another day he definitely could have gone," said Martin.

"The gaffer gives us the freedom to play like we do but you are going to make mistakes like that sometimes.

"He was probably a little bit lucky with that one."

It was a largely disappointing performance from Dons against Vale and Martin said conditions were difficult at Vale Park with the swirling wind and bobbly pitch.

"I think we're disappointed because we knew it was an opportunity, as Port Vale had lost six in a row," said Martin.

"It was quite difficult for our style of play but by the end of the season this could have been a great point.

"It's another clean sheet and we were solid at the back.

"I can't remember us having a shot but it was windy and dry.

"It was so difficult to play the ball out and you can make all these excuses but it probably wasn't good enough on the day.

"It all means nothing if we don't get promoted and it's not over until it's over.

"We've got to fight for that second spot and if we can't get that then we need to go into the playoffs in good form."

WOMEN'S FOOTBALL

Cool Leah hits winner

Leah Williamson, right, scores

ARSENAL'S Leah Williamson, from Milton Keynes, scored a penalty for England U19s against their Norway counterparts in one of the most bizarre football matches ever, as she secured their passage to the European Championships.

Uefa ordered that the final two minutes of a match between England and Norway be played out five days after the original tie.

In the original game, referee Marija Kurtes disallowed Williamson's spot-kick because of player encroachment, but instead of ordering the penalty to be retaken, which is what the rules state, she gave a free kick to Norway.

The FA appealed the decision and after it was granted the bizarre two-minute replay was organised.

Years slide by for side's veteran

On Saturday the current Lightning side took on Carsy's Allstars, which included former fan favourites Dean Campbell, Kurt Irvine, Michael Wales, Chris McEwen, Barry Hollyhead, Greg Randall and Simon Howard.

Lightning won 14-9 and it took time for the first goal to be scored. But once Carr, playing at that stage for the Allstars, supplied Irvine at 7mins 22secs, the scores came regularly.

Carr got the next goal less than a minute before the proceedings turned, with four goals for Lightning from Michael Farn, Chris Wiggins, and Nidal Phillips and one announced as Lewis Hook, although the two linesmen – there was no referee – couldn't agree. Lewis Christie was the actual scorer.

The couple of goals then added by the Allstars before the period break could have had more to do with goalie Stephen Wall's decision to position himself on top of the net than Irvine's and Wiklander's shooting prowess.

The second period comprised a series of tests, with Lightning winning the best of three hardest shots competition and the fastest skater, when Phillips took on McEwen. The Allstars edged the penalty shoot out.

Going into the third period it was back to a 'proper' game with two goals apiece for the friendly rivals, not that the final score really mattered. By then Carr had switched sides to battle for Lightning.

Carr said: "I cannot put into words what tonight felt like. I'm just so honoured that so many people made so much of an effort to play alongside me and come along to watch."

The previous evening Grant McPherson picked up the coach's award at the presentation evening at Jurys Inn.

Lewis Hook – signed from Peterborough Phantoms last summer – claimed both the most improved player and players' player accolades.

The award for best defenceman went to Ross Green, whose season was ended early when he broke his leg in a freak training session accident.

The remainder of the awards were scooped up by import forward Milan Kostourek, who took top scorer, most valuable player and supporters' club prizes.

Dons' dream still alive

Preston blow two-goal lead as Dons reign supreme at Fleetwood

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

DREAMS of automatic promotion are well and truly alive for Dons after they closed the gap on Preston North End to just three points following a fantastic 3-0 win at Fleetwood Town last night.

Dons were mightily impressive as they put the Cod Army to the sword with an outstanding victory against a side that needed three points themselves to keep their playoff ambitions alive.

But perhaps more importantly, Preston blew a two-goal lead to draw 2-2 at home to Gillingham, which means that Dons are potentially one win away from reclaiming second spot.

Lewis Baker got the ball rolling for Dons as he poked a Dele Alli cross home from inside the six-yard box.

Will Grigg forced Stephen Jordan into a mistake and took full advantage to add Dons' second, while Dele Alli's 20-yard rocket sealed a fantastic win on a great night for Dons, which extended their unbeaten run to seven games.

On the ball: Goals from Lewis Baker, Will Grigg and Dele Alli gave Dons a crucial 3-0 win over Fleetwood Town last night

New role for Poole at MK

PLAYERS past and present paid tribute to captain Adam Carr in his testimonial match on Saturday – just 24 hours after fans learned that Nick Poole will no longer be coach of MK Lightning.

Instead Poole, who has led the club since their formation in 2002, has been promoted to general manager, taking the place of Vito Rausa.

No successor to Poole has yet been announced.

Rausa said he, chairman Harry Howton and Poole had been running the club with Planet Ice for the past two years and that they needed to make decisions to take the club forward.

He said he would have preferred Poole to continue as coach.

The news, revealed at the end of season awards on Friday night, threatened to put a dampener on Carr's evening at MK Arena the following day.

Summing up Lightning's season on Friday night, Rausa said the team had finished the campaign well, playing some of their best hockey, which saw them qualifying for the Coventry play-off weekend, but they had suffered through poor form and injuries earlier on.

He assured fans that while he, Howton and Poole were involved with the club they would endeavour to make the best decisions for the success of the team.

Poole said: "I'm excited but it's a bit sad because I've enjoyed coaching for the last 14 years.

"It will probably be good to get someone else in and try some fresh and new ideas and I'll have a step back from the coaching."
